Right to Information

The Right to Information Act, of 2005 was enacted by the Parliament and it became operative on June 15th, 2005. Except for the State of Jammu & Kashmir, it covers the entirety of India. An Act to set out the practical regime of the right to information for citizens to gain access to information under the control of public authorities, to promote openness and accountability in the operation of every public authority. To be considered a public authority for the purposes of this Act, a university or college must be established by a law passed by the legislature of a state or by the federal government, or by notification from the relevant government, and it must also be owned, controlled, or substantially financed, directly or indirectly, by funds provided by the government. As per the Government of Maharashtra and UGC guidelines Secondary Education Society's Arts and Science College Bhalod implements the Right to Information Act, 2005

Procedure :

- Written requests in either English or Marathi may be sent directly to the concerned Public Information Officer (PIO).
- Pay the required fee. Application for below-poverty-line status is free. Upon submission of the application, the citizen will receive a receipt that includes the application number, date, and information on the relevant CPIOs.
- You will receive the information within 30 days. If third parties provide the information, there will be a 10-day extension if there are any objections.
- If the response time is not met, more information will be sent without charge.
